July 16, 2010 Youngstown, OH—Youngstown will welcome Academy of Country Music award winners Montgomery Gentry to the Covelli Centre on Saturday, September 18, 2010 at 8:00pm. “We have been trying to get another country show into the Covelli Centre for a long time,” says Assistant Director, Ken Bigley. “Typically, the patrons of our facility have shown a great response for country music. We are very excited to meet their requests and bring in such an amazing duo, Montgomery Gentry,” he says.

Montgomery Gentry have been in the music industry for 10 years and have released 20 chart-topping singles such as “My Town,” “Hell Yeah,” and “Something to be Proud of”. The duo share stories of blue collar men and women in their music; a story that Bigley says is worth telling in Youngstown. “A lot of the stories in their songs can be related to the lives of individuals in our town; they’re a perfect blend of storytelling, southern rock, and traditional country music that I think a lot of people will find entertaining,” Bigley concludes.

Tickets will go on sale to the public at the Covelli Centre box office and all Ticketmaster locations Friday, July 23 and will be $26.50, $36.50, and $46.50 (Gold Circle) with applicable additional fees.
